Management and Process Disclosures

Section C

Principle-wise Performance Disclosure

Principle 1

Businesses should conduct and govern themselves with integrity, and in a manner that is Ethical, Transparent and Accountable.

This Principle recognises that ethical behaviour in all operations, functions and processes, is the cornerstone of businesses guiding their governance of economic, social and environmental responsibilities.

The Principle emphasises that disclosures on business decisions and actions that impact stakeholders form the fundamental basis of operationalising responsible business conduct and should be accessible to all relevant stakeholders. It recognises that businesses are an integral part of society and that they will hold themselves accountable for the effective adoption, implementation, and making of disclosures on their performance with respect to the core elements of NGRBC guidelines.

The Principle further emphasises that the governance structure of the business should ensure this, in line with SDG 16, amongst others.

Principle 2

Businesses should provide goods and services in a manner that is sustainable and safe.

This Principle recognises the proposition of SDG 12, amongst others, that sustainable production and consumption are interrelated, contribute to enhancing the quality of life and towards protecting and preserving the earth's natural resources.

The Principle further emphasises that businesses should focus on safety and resource-efficiency in the design and manufacture of their products, and use their products in a manner that creates value while minimising and mitigating their adverse impacts on the environment and society through all stages of their life cycle, from design to final disposal. Over time, businesses should embrace the idea of circularity in all their operations.

In order to do so, the Principle encourages businesses to understand all material sustainability issues across their product life cycle and value chain.

Principle 3

Businesses should respect and promote the well-being of all employees, including those in their value chains.

This Principle encompasses all policies and practices relating to the equity, dignity and well-being, and provision of decent work (as indicated in SDG 8, amongst others), of all employees engaged within a business or in its value chain, without any discrimination and in a way that promotes diversity.

The principle recognises that the well-being of an employee also includes the well-being of her/his family.

Principle 4

Businesses should respect the interests of and be responsive to all its stakeholders.

This Principle recognises that businesses operate in an ecosystem comprising a number of stakeholders, beyond shareholders and investors, and that their activities impact natural resources, habitats, communities and the environment.

The Principle acknowledges that it is the responsibility of businesses to ensure that the interests of all stakeholders, especially those who may be vulnerable and marginalised, are protected.

Principle further recognises that businesses have a responsibility to maximise the positive impacts and minimise and mitigate the adverse impacts of their products, operations, and practices on all their stakeholders.

Principle 5

Businesses should respect and promote human rights.

This Principle recognises that human rights are rights inherent to all human beings, and that everyone, individually or collectively, is entitled to these rights, without discrimination. It further recognises that human rights are inherent, inalienable, interrelated, interdependent and indivisible.

The Principle is inspired, informed and guided by the Constitution of India and the International Bill of Rights and recognises the primacy of the State's duty to protect and fulfil human rights.

The Principle is further informed and guided by the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights in its articulation of the responsibility of businesses to respect human rights. It affirms that the responsibility of businesses to respect human rights requires that they avoid causing or contributing to adverse human rights impacts, and that they address such impacts when they occur. The Principle urges businesses to be especially responsive to such persons, individually or collectively, who are most vulnerable to, or at risk of, such adverse human rights impacts.

Principle 6

Businesses should respect and make efforts to protect and restore the environment.

This Principle recognises that environmental responsibility is a prerequisite for sustainable economic growth and for the well-being of society.

The Principle emphasises that environmental issues are interconnected at the local, regional and global levels, which makes it imperative for businesses to address issues like pollution, biodiversity conservation, sustainable use of natural resources and climate change (mitigation, adaptation and resilience) in a just, comprehensive and systematic manner. These are aligned with SDGs 11, 13, 14 and 15, amongst others.

The Principle encourages businesses to assess the environmental impacts of their products and operations and take steps to minimise and mitigate their adverse impacts where these cannot be avoided. The Principle encourages businesses to adopt environmental practices and processes that minimise or eliminate the adverse impacts of their operations and across the value chain. The Principle encourages businesses to follow the Precautionary Principle in all their actions.

Principle 7

Businesses, when engaging in influencing public and regulatory policy, should do so in a manner that is responsible and transparent.

This Principle recognises that businesses operate within specified national and international legislative and policy frameworks, which guide their growth and also provide for certain desirable restrictions and boundaries.

The Principle recognises the legitimacy of businesses to engage with governments for redressal of a grievance or for influencing public policy. The Principle emphasises that public policy advocacy must expand the public good.

Principle 8Businesses should promote inclusive growth and equitable development.

This Principle recognises the challenges of social and economic development faced by India, and builds upon the national and local development agenda as articulated in government policies and priorities. This is particularly significant in zones affected by social disharmony and low human development.

The Principle recognises the value of the energy and enterprise of businesses and encourages them to innovate and contribute to the overall development of the country with a specific focus on disadvantaged, vulnerable and marginalised communities, as articulated in Section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013.

The Principle also emphasises the need for collaboration amongst businesses, government agencies and civil society in furthering this development agenda in line with SDG 17, amongst others.

The Principle reiterates that business success, inclusive growth and equitable development are interdependent.

Principle 9Businesses should engage with and provide value to their consumers in a responsible manner.

This Principle is based on the fact that the basic aim of a business entity is to provide goods and services to its consumers that are safe to use, and in a manner that creates value for both.

The Principle recognises that consumers have the freedom of choice in the selection and usage of goods and services, and that the enterprises will strive to make available products that are safe, competitively priced, easy to use and safe to dispose of, for the benefit of their consumers.

The Principle also recognises that businesses should play a key role, along with other relevant stakeholders, in mitigating the adverse impacts that excessive consumption of its products may have on the overall well-being of individuals, society and our planet, in line with SDG 12, amongst others.

2. a. Does the entity have procedures in place for sustainable sourcing? (Yes/No)

Yes, we understand the importance of integrating sustainable sourcing practices in our supply chain. The Company has initiated efforts to identify and categorize suppliers as critical or non-critical based on the value of business transacted, where critical suppliers are those that individually comprise 2% or more of BEL’s total purchases (by value). BEL also tracks and reports the proportion of its inputs that are sourced sustainably, either through internal sustainable sourcing programmes or from suppliers certified to comply with recognized social and environmental standards. These procedures ensure that sustainable considerations are embedded at every stage of supplier engagement.

Some of the specific measures in place include:

1. New Vendor Evaluation: We have a dedicated process for vendor onboarding which includes assessment of parameters such as commercial capability, technical capability, legal compliance, electrical safety, fire safety, hazardous material storage, and process management, which is jointly conducted by the Supply Chain Management (SCM) and Quality Assessment teams.

2. Existing Vendor Re-evaluation: Some existing suppliers are audited twice a year with a gap of 6 months. They are evaluated on parameters such as safety, legal compliance, organizational policies, work environment, and product quality. Root cause analysis (RCA) is conducted in case of quality issues, and corrective action is taken where necessary. Assessment of Tier 2 vendors is also conducted where the supply of critical components or materials is concerned.

This proactive mechanism ensures swift identification and mitigation of potential hazards, reinforcing a secure and compliant work environment.

The Company also conducts routine safety audits, including specialized fire safety audits, to rigorously evaluate and enhance existing safety protocols. These efforts are supported by regular compliance checks to ensure adherence to all legal and regulatory health and safety requirements.

b. What are the processes used to identify work-related hazards and assess risks on a routine and non-routine basis by the entity?

The Company places a high priority on Hazard Identification and Risk Assessment (HIRA) for both routine and non-routine activities. The HIRA process is integral to identifying and assessing risks associated with critical equipment. It encompasses several key steps:

- Reviewing Incident History: Activities and areas with a history of incidents are carefully examined to identify potential safety risks.
- Stakeholder Consultation: Engaging relevant stakeholders to gain valuable insights and enhance their understanding of safety concerns.
- Material Safety Data Sheets: Analyzing safety data related to plant machinery and equipment to identify potential hazards and required safety precautions.

These steps allow the Company to proactively identify hazards and take necessary actions to maintain a safer workplace.

The Company employs a “Probability-Consequence” Risk Matrix to assess the severity of identified risks. Once a hazard is identified, its severity is evaluated in consultation with personnel who may be exposed to the risk. If a hazard is categorized as high-risk, immediate action is taken, beginning with short-term control measures, followed by a detailed assessment to determine long-term solutions. The outcomes of these assessments guide the implementation of effective risk control measures, which are prioritized as follows:

- Elimination of Hazard: Completely removing the source of danger from the workplace to eliminate risk at its root.
- Substitution of Hazard: Replacing hazardous substances, processes, or materials with safer alternatives to reduce potential harm.
- Isolation or Enclosure of Hazard: Containing or segregating the hazard, for example, by restricting access to high-risk areas such as chemical storage rooms.
- Engineering Solutions: Redesigning equipment, workspaces, or processes to minimize exposure to hazards through technical controls.
- Administrative Procedures: Establishing safe work practices, such as job rotation, shift planning, and task diversification to limit the duration and frequency of exposure.
- Use of Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) and Training: Supplying suitable PPE and ensuring comprehensive training on its correct use when other control measures cannot fully eliminate risk.

Through these systematic measures, the Company ensures the identification, mitigation and continuous management of workplace hazards, fostering a safer and healthier environment for all employees.

- EHS Portal: A centralized portal has been implemented for reporting near misses and deviations related to Environment, Health, and Safety (EHS). All submissions are tracked, and unresolved issues are escalated to higher authorities if not addressed within the specified timeframe.
- EHS Daily Tracker Initiative: At manufacturing units, a daily EHS data tracking system is in place. This initiative ensures that all incidents are recorded and documented regularly. Daily performance updates are shared with the site team, and consolidated monthly data is presented in graphical format for review by safety committee members.
- Additional Methods: The Company also uses suggestion boxes/register, designates safety officers, and conducts regular safety committee meetings to address health and safety concerns. Yes, Bajaj Electricals Limited is undertaking concerted and strategic efforts to reduce its greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions, as part of its broader commitment to environmental sustainability. The Company is steadily transitioning towards cleaner and more sustainable energy sources, with a particular focus on renewable energy integration.

To reduce its environmental footprint and enhance energy efficiency, solar panels have been installed across all manufacturing units. This initiative not only supports energy self-reliance but also significantly contributes to lowering carbon emissions. In line with this, the Company has conducted detailed energy audits at its Chakan and Nashik facilities through Bureau of Energy Efficiency (BEE)-accredited energy auditors. These audits help identify further opportunities for energy conservation and efficiency improvements. Several energy-efficient technologies and process optimizations have been implemented across operations, including:

- Transition from LPG to PNG in the new paint shop at the Chakan unit, enabling cleaner combustion and improved operational efficiency.
- Installation of Variable Frequency Drives (VFDs) and energy-efficient motors, reducing energy consumption by optimizing motor speed and torque.
- Use of aluminum piping for the compressed air system at the Chakan facility, which minimizes pressure drops and improves air flow efficiency.
- Waste heat recovery systems in paint booths to capture and reuse heat energy, significantly reducing fuel usage.
- Deployment of energy-efficient air compressors, which further contribute to reduced electricity consumption and operational costs.
- Employees awareness through continuous training and reward & recognition mechanism which helps us to drive the decarbonisation initiative across the organisation

Through these focused interventions, Bajaj Electricals continues to embed sustainability into its operations, actively reducing its carbon footprint and contributing to the global transition towards a low-carbon economy.

10. Briefly describe the waste management practices adopted in your establishments. Describe the strategy adopted by your company to reduce usage of hazardous and toxic chemicals in your products and processes and the practices adopted to manage such wastes.

Bajaj Electricals Limited is deeply committed to implementing a responsible, forward-thinking, and sustainable waste management strategy that aligns with industry best practices. The Company's approach emphasizes the systematic segregation of waste, safe handling, and eco-friendly disposal methods to minimize environmental impact across all operations.

Adoption of the Waste Management Hierarchy

The Company follows the globally recognized Hierarchy of Waste Management Practices, prioritizing actions that have the least environmental impact:

- Avoidance/Reduction: Preventing waste generation at the source through improved operational efficiency and sustainable practices.
- Reuse: Extending the life cycle of materials by using them again for the same or different purposes without altering their form.
- Recycling: Converting waste materials into new products or raw materials, thereby conserving natural resources.
- Recovery: Extracting valuable energy or materials from waste that cannot be reused or recycled.
- Disposal: As a last resort, disposing of residual waste in an environmentally compliant manner

Waste Segregation and Handling

Waste is segregated at the source in all facilities using color-coded and clearly labeled containers. Employees trained in safe waste handling practices manage the transfer of waste to designated scrap yards while adhering to strict safety protocols and using appropriate Personal Protective Equipment (PPE). All segregated waste is then routed to certified vendors for appropriate recycling, reuse, or scientific disposal in line with sustainable practices.

Hazardous Waste Management

The hazardous waste generated, including shot blasting dust, paint sludge, ETP sludge, used oil, empty drums and barrels, contaminated cotton rags, and other such materials, is managed with the utmost responsibility. Disposal is carried out in compliance with the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) and respective State Pollution Control Board (SPCB) regulations. Bajaj Electricals is a certified member of the Common Hazardous Waste Treatment, Storage, and Disposal Facility (CHWTSDF) at MEPL, Ranjangaon, ensuring safe, scientific, and regulatory-compliant disposal.

Non-Hazardous Waste and Thermocol Reduction Initiative

In alignment with its Refuse-Reduce-Reuse-Recycle-Rotten (5R) principles, the Company has taken significant steps to eliminate non-biodegradable materials from its supply chain. A standout initiative includes the reduction of thermocol usage for packaging by replacing it with environmentally friendly pulp-based alternatives. This initiative, driven through the Company's non-profit arm, "Bajaj Paryavaran Mitra", founded in 2004, fosters environmental stewardship. All pulp packaging waste is returned, adhering to circular economy principles.

Waste Management and EPR Compliance

As a responsible producer, the Company upholds its Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) under the Plastic, Battery & E-Waste Management Rules. Bajaj Electricals is registered with CPCB for the collection, recycling, and environmentally sound disposal of electrical and electronic equipment. The Company also complies strictly with the Reduction of Hazardous Substances (RoHS) directives, ensuring product safety and minimal environmental impact. Waste management protocols at the Nashik and Chakan facilities ensure that all e-waste is disposed of through authorized agencies, maintaining full regulatory compliance.

Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) System

Reinforcing its commitment to sustainable water use, the Company has implemented a state-of-the-art Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) system. This includes advanced Effluent Treatment Plants (ETP), Reverse Osmosis (RO) systems, and Evaporation Units that work in tandem to treat and recycle process wastewater. This integrated system helps conserve water resources and ensures compliance with the most stringent environmental standards.

Sewage Treatment and Water Reuse

Modern Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs) at the Chakan and Nashik facilities treat domestic wastewater, abiding by high quality standards. The treated water is repurposed for green belt development within plant premises, contributing to a circular water usage system and reducing freshwater demand.

Innovation and Continuous Improvement

Bajaj Electricals fosters a culture of continuous innovation in its waste management efforts. The R&D team actively collaborates with suppliers and vendors to ensure that our products meet RoHS compliance standards. At the Chakan facility, new technologies have been introduced in the paint shop to reuse recovery powder, minimizing waste generation. Furthermore, a secure, dedicated hazardous waste storage room has been established to ensure safe containment and management of hazardous materials.
