5. Has the entity implemented a mechanism for Zero Liquid Discharge? If yes, provide details of its coverage and implementation.

Yes, CERA has implemented a Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) mechanism within our manufacturing facility. This comprehensive system ensures that all wastewater generated is treated and recycled or reused, with no discharge into the environment. We have achieved ZLD by implementing:

We have implemented advanced wastewater treatment systems to support responsible water management and achieve Zero Liquid Discharge (ZLD) at our manufacturing units:

Effluent Treatment Plants (ETPs): Two ETPs with a total capacity of 710 KLD. The treated water is further purified via Reverse Osmosis (RO), and the RO reject is recirculated into the ETPs through a closed-loop system to maximize reuse.

Sewage Treatment Plants (STPs): Two STPs with a combined capacity of 140 KLD handle on-site domestic sewage treatment.

ZLD Commitment: Our commitment to ZLD is reinforced through the installation of a Multiple Effect Evaporator (MEE) for high-TDS wastewater treatment, alongside ozonators and RO units, to ensure responsible water discharge and maintain rigorous quality standards.

A major portion of the treated water is reused in key production processes such as mould making, slip preparation, glaze preparation, casting, and in chillers. The remaining treated water is utilized for gardening and landscaping. (75% – plant operation use; 25% – domestic use)

We have achieved zero external discharge from our manufacturing operations and conducted water audit, reflecting our commitment to sustainable water management and environmental protection.

Note: In FY 2024–25, although the overall production declined slightly, energy consumption and emissions increased. This was primarily due to the expansion of a specific production unit and increased reliance on grid electricity during the shutdown of the renewable energy plant for maintenance and weather-related issues. Efficiency improvements and equipment upgrades did provide considerable savings (listed below), but these were offset by higher grid dependency. Additionally, the emission factors for Scope 1 and Scope 2 have been updated in accordance with the 2024 GHG Protocol and the Indian CEA (SEBI ISF guidance). Consequently, the figures for FY 2023–24 have also been revised to ensure consistency and comparability.

8. Does the entity have any project related to reducing Green House Gas emission? If yes, then provide details.

CERA has initiated Non-Conventional Energy generation project since 1995, harnessing wind and solar power to produce 10.325 MW of energy. Today, our manufacturing plants in Gujarat fulfil about 60% of electricity requirements through non-conventional captive generation. To further improve efficiency, we have partly replaced our existing solar panels with newer ones, enhancing the overall performance of our renewable energy systems. Additionally, we prioritize cleaner fuels like market gas for our production processes. At our Kadi factory premises, we host a dedicated R&D unit recognized by the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research (DSIR). This unit spearheads initiatives to minimize fuel consumption, driving efficiency improvements throughout our operations.

Energy audits were conducted at our locations, which helped identify energy-saving opportunities for energy conservation and cost reduction. The recommendations from these audits are implemented based on priority.

Optimizing energy efficiency and emission reduction
Fuel	Electrical	Mechanical
Automation and control improvements were implemented through auto ON-OFF valves, burner/kiln timers, and pressure-based gas booster control.	Extensive timer installations across plant equipment (HF plant, coolers, mixers, conveyors) to optimize runtime.	Equipment modifications and upgrades such as higher-capacity dryers, slip blunger belt changes, and agitator timer pilots enhanced efficiency.
Optimization of gas usage included prioritizing GAIL gas for generator usage and utilizing waste heat in dryers.	Replacing tube lights with sensor-based lighting and disconnecting idle equipment.	Transition to energy-efficient components, including IE3 motors and delta-to-star conversion for multiple agitators.
Equipment-level efficiency measures like damper adjustments and mould-weight-based burner shutdown were introduced.	Control enhancements via remote ON/OFF switches and interlocks (e.g., pitcher ball mill with compressor) reduced unnecessary consumption.	Process streamlining with improved shuttle kiln loading and blower-airline interlocking helped reduce mechanical load and improve safety.

These have resulted in approximately 600 MWh/2000 GJ in energy savings and 250 MtCO₂e of emission reduction for FY 2024-25

Moreover, frequent monitoring of energy consumption enables us to swiftly identify inefficiencies and optimization opportunities. This approach aids in informed decision-making towards energy conservation and cost reduction.
