		IFGL continues to advance its commitment to environmental sustainability through a series of proactive measures designed to reduce its ecological footprint and enhance resource efficiency across its operations. The following key initiatives have been implemented: • Water Re-circulation Systems: A closed-loop water circulation framework has been introduced, substantially lowering the withdrawal of fresh water. Enhancements to the Effluent Treatment Plant (ETP), including the addition of new catchpits and the installation of a Sewage Treatment Plant (STP), further support water conservation efforts. • Air Emission Controls: High-efficiency bag filters and Retrofit Emission Control Devices (RECD) have been installed to effectively mitigate particulate emissions and improve overall air quality. • Reuse of Waste Wood: Discarded wooden pallets are being repurposed for packaging applications, promoting circularity in material use and reducing solid waste generation. • Energy Efficiency Measures: Variable Frequency Drives (VFDs) have been deployed on motors and pumps, contributing to improved energy performance and reduced power consumption. • Integration of Renewable Energy: Solar lighting systems have been installed across various plant zones and administrative areas, decreasing reliance on conventional energy sources. These initiatives underscore IFGL’s dedication to sustainable industrial practices and its ongoing efforts to operate in an environmentally responsible manner.
